The Architect Says: Quotes, Quips, And Words Of Wisdom

Synopsis

If there's anything architects like doing more than designing buildings, it's talking about architecture. Whether musing about their inspirations (a blank sheet of paper, the sun hitting the side of a building), expanding on each other's thoughts (on materials, collaboration, clients, and constraints), or dishing out a clever quip, architects make good copy. The Architect Says is a colorful compendium of quotations from more than one hundred of history's most opinionated design minds. Paired on page spreads like guests at a dinner party-an architect of today might sit next to a contemporary or someone from the eighteenth century-these sets of quotes convey a remarkable depth and diversity of thinking. Alternately wise and amusing, this elegant gem of a book makes the perfect gift for architects, students, and anyone curious about the ideas and personalities that have helped shape our built world.

Customer Reviews

"A pocketbook of inspiration.... Coming across unexpected quotes or ones that hit a nerve makes a flip through the book great. A couple of my favorites includes Jan Kaplicky: 'It's not a sign of creativity to have sixty-five ideas for one problem. It's just a waste of energy.' and Frank Gehry: 'I don't know why people hire architects and then tell them what to do.' These and other quotes make the book a great gift." -- Archidose.com

"When it's 4 am and you're sitting in a confused mess of crumpled trace paper and dull X-acto blades, turn to this trusty compilation and try to find the light." -- ArtInfo.com

"The Architect Says: Quotes, Quips, and Words of Wisdom gathers timeless wisdom on design and architecture from more than 100 of history's most vocal-and often dissenting-minds. What emerges, besides the fascinating tapas bar of ideas about the art and science of building, is the subtle but essential reminder that what lies at the heart of creative legacy aren't universal formulas and unrelenting tenets but perspective, conviction, and personality." -- Brain Pickings

My little brother is in school for architecture and loves little books like this that give a little bit of insight from professionals. I like the size and enjoy the structure/make of the the book overall. I think this is a perfect little gift for anyone in school for architecture or even for someone who enjoys quotes.

Love this book and the quotes which are related on facing pages. So you get sometimes seemingly opposed views but strangely both true and profound. Greta conversation piece and some quotes are well know but great job in contextualizing the quotes as a pairing of minds.

Interesting, but not earth shattering. Just a collection of thoughts from random architects. Good idea, though. If the author really knew architecture, she could have been more specific on its impact to society and those who enjoy it.

blah, blah, blah

It's a good little book with nice composition qualities. However, some of the quotations are lengthy but nonetheless good words of wisdom.

Gift for son, he seemed to enjoy it. Well made and shipped quickly.

Great insights. Fun read

This book has a lot of really good quotes, from a lot of well known and not so well known architects.
