Southern Exposure

Synopsis

Celebrate amateur photographer, Sam Carson, is back with his fourth installment of his seemingly endless collection of simplistic and sexy photographs of mostly unknown male models in Southern California. His previous books have been overwhelmingly successful, as this latest will no doubt be as well.

Sam Carson, well-known architect from California, is an old hand in the photography business and has been taking pictures of young amateur models for many years now. He lives in Los Angeles and with his many books has a solid standing in the world of men's photography.

As described. Great book. Hot guys.

This book contains pictures of young men in various states of undress, and nude. They all look, and are, of legal age 18. I have several of this photographer's art and am impressed with his style and finesse.
