Amazing Science Devotions For Children's Ministry

Synopsis

Science lessons used to reveal the wonders of God. Use everyday observations like popping corn and rainbows to connect kids with God's wonderful world. These lessons can be used anywhere -- children's sermons, Sunday school, midweek programs, clubs -- to give kids' faith a boost and help them learn about God!

Customer Reviews

I would recommend this book to anyone that is wanting to bring a Bible Lesson closer to home for the kids in the class. Some are hands on, and kids love that! The book arrived quickly and was in excellent condition.

Some of the experiments fit perfectly with situations my kids were dealing with. They will never look at a crushed soda can the same way. Looking forward to doing more experiments. Thank you for a great resource!

I teach Sunday School and Vacation Bible School and am always looking for some extras to supplement my lessons. The easy to do experiments in this book have been great! My classes (anywhere from PreK to 6th grade) have loved seeing them, and I have loved how they tie into my Bible lessons!

Am Director for our Wednesday night Childrens Program and led off the evening with object lessons and devotions, so this book came in real handy. I like to mix things up as often as I can and this book is a big help - easy to follow.

Great for teaching Sunday School or Bible School

Great book, great price, arrived quickly.

My wife coordinates the children's Sunday school program at our church. She uses this book in one of her workshops. It has proven to be a valuable resource.

Saw this while searching for another and purchased it. Great little book with some interesting experiments. Not for the very young, but 5 yo and up is okay.
