Customer Reviews

Nina Chakrabarti studied illustration at Central Saint Martin's College and The Royal College of Art, London. She uses line drawing to explore her love of the decorative arts, inspired by her past in Calcutta, India, where she grew up, and the exuberance of London, where she now lives and works. She is the author of the bestselling My Wonderful World of Fashion and My Even More Wonderful World of Fashion (both Laurence King).

Great book for sketching nature and getting ideas for art projects!

We are in week 2 of using this in our homeschool room, and I love it. My kids love it too, which is what I want. It has great illustrations, is separated by season, and is perfect for adding into note booking. I am using it with a 5th grade girl and a 3rd grade boy, and they both are loving it.

Even better than I imagined

Perfect

Why this book doesn't have more reviews is surprising. It should be in every ckssroom as a reference if not in every home or in every school desk or underneath every child's pillow. The paperback version becomes a sketchbook with its cover and generous flaps. It's value comes in the offerings to draw sketch and amplify what the author has so adeptly and playfully drawn. Every section is an invitation to study and learn through observation first on the page and then in nature. As a Master Gardener I consider this a must reference when teaching in a community garden or in schools. The large scale drawings, how to's and distinctions about ferns and composite flowers fir example is ingenious.
