"Memory is limited and fallible, even among experienced reference librarians; thus Special Issues Index is a necessity. It includes more than 1,300 North American business, industrial, and consumer journals, identifying which issue annually carries a special report, buyer's guide, directory, or statistical summary. ... This is it. Now librarians need not remember which issue carries the Fortune 500 directory. It is more important that they remember that this index belongs in their ready-reference desk collections."-Wilson Library Bulletin
